DONALD COOK — Editor, Designer

While I confess thy writings to be such
 As neither man, nor muse, can praise too much.
 Thou art a monument without a tomb,
 And art alive still while thy book doth live
 And we have wits to read and praise to give.
 Shine forth, thou Star of poets.

To the memory of My Beloved Master, William Shakespeare—Ben Johnson

Dear son of memory, great heir of fame,
 What need'st thou such weak witness of thy name?
 Thou in our wonder and astonishment
 Hast built thyself a livelong monument.
 And so sepulchred in such pomp dost lie
 That kings for such a tomb would wish to die.

On Shakespeare—John Milton

Many years ago someone nicknamed us the Titans; since then we have indeed proved ourselves to be Titans in all walks of life in athletic prowess, in academic endeavors, in the business world, in the professions, in Who's Who lists, and in society at large.

We encounter many forces every day during our lives; one such force is school spirit. This spirit should go much deeper than just school loyalty or pride. It should be a part of our very selves while we are here at Westminster; it is the sense of achievement, an awareness of our surroundings, a feeling of being part of the Westminster history and of the Titan tradition, a deep pride in our Alma Mater, a firm loyalty to our school.

The Titan tradition is an old and very proud one. Everyone at Westminster Administration, Faculty, and Students is part of this tradition. Westminster was very fortunate to have among its Faculty a man who was truly a Titan. Dr. John H. Forry was loved and respected by all. He was not only one of the best known Shakespeare scholars, but served here for nineteen years as Professor and Academic Dean. Dr. Forry was the perfect example of the Titan spirit; it is to this spirit, which he represented, that this Argo is dedicated.

Now cracks a noble heart. Good night, sweet Prince;
 And flights of angels sing thee to thy rest!

Hamlet Act V, Scene II—Wm. Shakespeare

His life was gentle, and the elements
 So mix'd in him that Nature might stand up
 And say to all the world 'This was a man!'

President of the College

Dr. Will W. Orr has served as President since May, 1949. He came here with a rich and varied background of service. After graduating from Erskine College, he taught science, served as principal, and was superintendent of schools near Charlotte, North Carolina. Then after completing post-graduate work at Pittsburgh-Xenia Seminary, Dr. Orr served the Church by being a pastor in Beaver Falls, Pa., and Des Moines, Iowa.

Since his arrival here, Dr. Orr has been active in many fields of college life. Not only has he served as President of the College, but he has initiated a continual growth. He helped organize the Western Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Athletic Association, serving as its first president. Dr. Orr also served as Chairman of the Presidents' Advisory Committee to the five hundred member National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The campus is evidence of the work he has done here—numerous new additions to the physical plant plus special recognition and accreditation for academic endeavors within the college departments.

Art

Art means different things to different people.

The primary goal of the Art Department is to aid the student in enlarging his potential to experience his unique characteristics as a human being. The Art Department accomplishes this by serving the entire community through service courses and exhibitions. For students interested in art as a possible profession, there are two major programs: the Art program, for students interested in becoming producers of art; and the Art Education program, for students wishing to teach. To spread an interest in art, the department maintains both a permanent and a temporary art exhibit in the Arts and Science Building. The temporary exhibits contain works by various art majors at Westminster. Most courses are open to all students.

Biology

The goals of the Biology Department are: to prepare those students who major in biology for their work after graduation, and to offer non-majors an acquaintance with the fundamental concepts of the science of biology. Presently the Biology Department is in the process of updating its courses and its curriculum. An analytical approach to the teaching of biology is presently being adopted. Such an approach demands a strong background in chemistry, mathematics and physics. The result is that a biology major is required to take at least a year of calculus and a year of organic chemistry in addition to the usual year of physics.

Chemistry

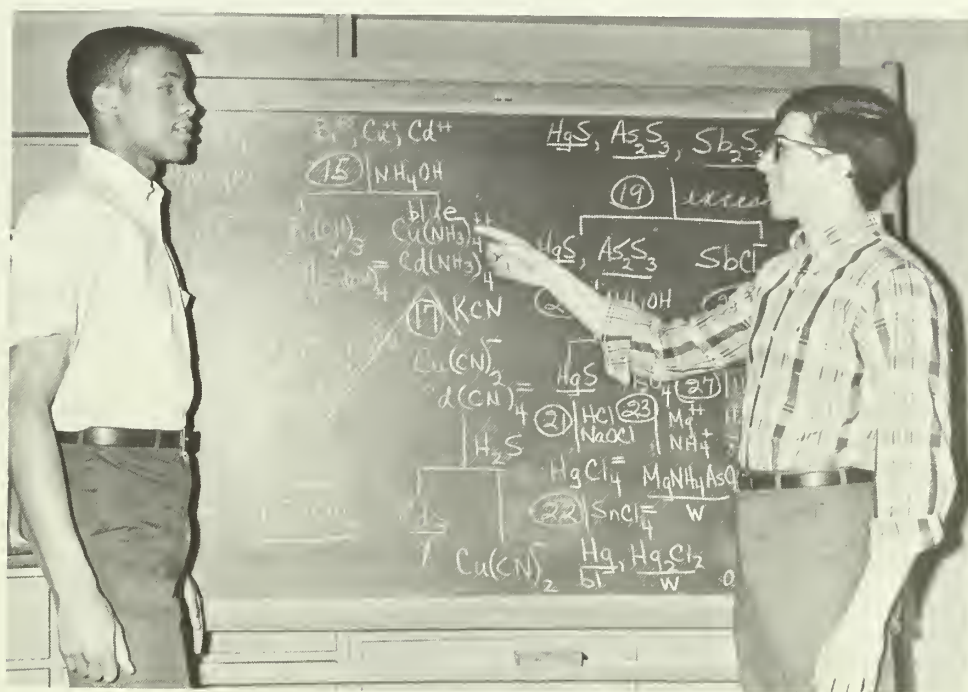

This year the Department of Chemistry was approved by the American Chemical Society as offering a sound program of undergraduate training. This is a goal toward which the department has been working for over ten years. This recognition is a result of such factors as increased library holdings, enlarged staff, staff research activities, updated facilities and a modern curriculum. It is part of the department's program for the future to encourage and provide opportunity for more independent work in the laboratory. The facilities are being modified to give greater flexibility in usage. All the department's efforts are directed toward providing a modern program in undergraduate chemical training.

Economics and Business

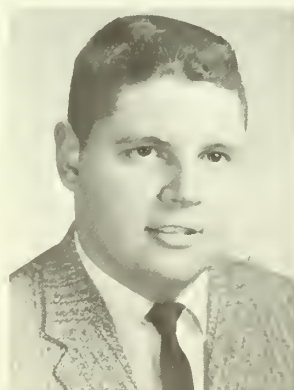

"I hate 8 o'clocks, too!"

The basic objectives of the Department of Economics and Business are to give the student a fundamental knowledge of economics and business, an understanding of the major current business issues, and an appreciation of the social and political climate of economics and business. Students majoring in the field of economics and business, graduate prepared for constructive participation in the economic and business affairs of the community and nation. Specifically, the department prepares students for graduate study, business leadership, labor leadership, government work, teaching, and executive secretarial competency.

The basic purpose of the department is the preparation of persons qualified to teach. The broad and diversified program in the liberal arts is considered integral and necessary to this purpose. Building upon this foundation the department aims to offer a quality program of education experiences with emphasis on continued professional growth. The psychology division of this department aims not only to prepare psychology majors for graduate work, but also to equip prospective teachers, ministers, and other professional workers with the psychological background necessary for the pursuit of their vocations.

The English Department strives to fill two basic needs of each student—to enrich his life through the study of literature, and to cultivate a workable comprehension of the intricacies of the English language. The former is done through the study of writings, both prose and poetry, throughout the various periods of the past and into the present; courses analyzing eras such as Romantic, Victorian, early contemporary British and American, etc., offer the student the cumulative history of these periods. Courses dealing with individuals like Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Milton, plus "anthology" courses, summarize the great authors and poets of all ages. Achievement of the latter is reached through introductory, composition, and grammar courses; for those so inclined, literary criticism courses are also offered.

"You say you read Washington cut down an apple tree?"

The Department of History, Political Science, and Sociology believes that man must understand his past if he is to act intelligently in the present. It further affirms that he should acquaint himself with the political and social institutions of his day. The addition of Mr. C. Clyde Jones in Political Science permits a better balance and more offerings than the Department has ever had before. Arthur H. Auten and Walter H. Slack received their degrees in Doctor of Philosophy during the year. Political Relations Club and Sociology Club remain active with monthly meetings and varied programs; Phi Alpha Theta History Honorary included a Spring banquet in its plans for the year.

Languages

The Language Department aims to give the student of a foreign language a knowledge of the structure of the language being studied, and the ability to use foreign languages in practical situations. Several language majors have had the opportunity of putting into use their knowledge of foreign languages by spending their junior year abroad. Students gain increased appreciation of the literature and civilization of other peoples through various courses in the study of the literature of foreign lands. The language laboratory affords the student the opportunity of understanding a foreign language more fully and speaking with greater fluency.

Mathematics education has been greatly stimulated by the advent of electronic computers. In many cases, students find that they must elect further training in mathematics in order to continue work in their major field. At Westminster students from several major areas now enroll in advanced courses in mathematics. Our department attempts to provide the necessary insights and skill for these students and also to prepare our majors to go into industry, to teach, and to continue their training in graduate school. The department sponsors a chapter of the mathematics honorary, Kappa Mu Epsilon, to provide fellowship and stimulation for students who excel in mathematics. Members of the department staff have been active, through workshops and classes, in helping teachers and parents adjust to programs in modern mathematics.

Music

The importance of music as a part of Westminster's curriculum is evidenced by the spacious facilities which have been provided for those carrying on the program. The faculty of this department comprises eight recognized artists and scholars. Faculty members are keeping abreast with current educational techniques by attending graduate schools and clinics during the summer months. All are members of the Youngstown Philharmonic Orchestra. The activities of the Music Department are varied. Football games, Homecoming game, and basketball games are the functions at which the marching band performs. The orchestra presents three concerts a year. This year the concert choir went on a tour to Florida. The main function of the Vesper Choir is to sing at Sunday Vespers. One of the most important and impressive musical events of the year was the annual Christmas Vespers at which both choirs performed.

Physical Education

The physical education and athletic program at Westminster College is designed to make contributions to all phases of individual development. The college participates in a full program of intercollegiate athletics. The objectives of this program are as follows: to promote the physical, recreational and moral welfare of the student; to strengthen sportsmanship and develop team play, self confidence, self control, and good citizenship. In the physical education classes and intramural program for men and women, students are encouraged to maintain a balance between team and individual sports. Emphasis is placed on the so-called "carry over" sports in which students may participate after graduation and, as a result, may gain and cultivate the recreational satisfactions and the health and social advantages that go with them.

Physics

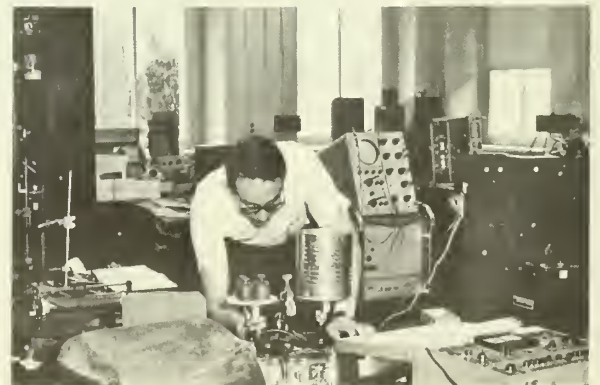

The Department of Physics provides courses that acquaint the student with the fundamental principles of physics. Besides general courses in physics and geology, there are numerous specialized courses in the study of mechanics, electricity, light, radiation, atomic structure, and their dynamics. The student majoring in physics at Westminster will be prepared for teaching, industry, medicine, or graduate study.

Religion and Philosophy

The department of Religion and Philosophy, with the departments of English and History, makes a specific contribution to the college level training of students who plan to go to Seminary. The recently devised Theology major provides these students a major emphasis on Religion, Biblical Studies and Philosophy. The department provides courses in Bible, religion and theology, and philosophy which are being selected by an increasing number of students. The intent is that these courses should contribute to the efforts of these students to formulate a satisfying Christian philosophy for life. During Mr. Rogers' absence, Mr. Sproul replaced him in the department.

Speech and Dramatics

The Department of Speech and Dramatics offers not only a comprehensive but also a versatile program of study enabling each student to meet his own individual needs and interests. The courses offered are in fields of Public Address, Theater, Speech Therapy, Television-Radio, Speech Teaching. Competent instruction assures a high degree of personal growth and professional development for students who would go on to graduate school or who would enter directly those careers for which speech training is a solid foundation. The Little Theater Players, under the direction of the professors of the department, produce four plays a year. This year the plays were "Ladies in Retirement," "Squaring the Circle," "The Fantastics," and "The Lady's Not For Burning." Next year the new Little Theater, which was completed this year, will be used for the productions. The expansion of the seating facilities, 300 people, will allow more people to attend the dramatic functions produced by Westminster College.

Hell Week being a thing of antiquity, Freshman Week was comparatively uneventful this year. The new frosh still had all the various meetings to introduce them to Faculty, Administration, and procedure, and had to wear their dinks and name cards, getting 25 upperclassmen's signatures. The highlight of Freshman Week was a Talent Show put on by the frosh for upperclassmen, held at the Pavilion on the night prior to the opening of the football season.

Arriving late, furiously unpacking, rehearsing hastily, trying to swim in 40 degree weather, confusing Southern accents, strange Southern foods—these are some of the memories of the Concert Choir tour. The most memorable event though, was the international flavor gained by giving a concert on board M.S. Lucaya while docked at Grand Bahama Island. The choir presented two concerts per day while traveling through Washington, D.C., Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and the Bahamas.

First place in the fraternity float competition was won by Alpha Sigma Phi's "Casey Jones," an express train labeled "Cannonball the Grovers." 1965-66 saw the campus introduced to a new type of entertainment—one which proved immensely popular and very successful, and which is planned to be continued. This new “boredom relief” was Olympic Weekend, better known as Winter Frolic.

On a rain soaked Saturday morning eight teams of independent and Greek men had rugby matches and the women had powder-puff football games, all on the new practice field. In the afternoon the four men's and four women's winners played volleyball in the field house, with these two winners having a swimming relay contest in Old '77 afterwards. The Sig Eps beat the Phi Taus in the men's section, and the Alpha Gams defeated the Delta Zetas in the women's. Both the Eps and the AG's were crowned the official winners of Winter Frolic that evening at the dance for the entire student body held in the Student Union. Rain or no, participation or no, everyone enjoyed themselves and had a very worthwhile Winter Frolic.

Albert and Lucy discuss the mystery

"Hmm! This cord ought to do the trick."

Ladies in Retirement, by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham, was the season's first Little Theater production. Starring Pauline McKnight (Ellen Creed), Jane Breneman (Leonora Fisk), and Dick Gilmore (Albert Feather), the play was a psychological study keeping the audience in suspense. The story concerns two ladies, Ellen and Leonora, who lived together. Miss Creed brought her sisters, Louisa (Muriel Baird) and Emily (Mary Steinmiller) to visit, but they decided to stay; when Leonora asks that they leave, she mysteriously dies. Her nephew, Albert, and the maid (Pat Whipkey) discover that Ellen has killed Leonora. All in all, Retirement was good tongue in cheek fun.

"Here's to the health of the Creed sisters."

Squaring the Circle

The occupants of the communal house read some basic ideology

Combining sarcasm and gentle attacks or criticisms on the state of existence in Soviet Russia in the 1920's, Squaring the Circle, by Valentine Kataev, was an amusing comedy. Basically anti-Communist "propaganda" and criticism, especially on severe housing shortages in Moscow, this bit of fun also points out the universal weaknesses found in human logic which help form the essence of the comic spirit. The cast made the plight of the housing shortage trap enjoyable entertainment.

"Your poetic ramblings won't help the revolution."

The Fantasticks

Heart-throbs, through the wall

The Fantasticks, a parable of love, by Harvey Schmidt and Tom Jones was the third production to be presented in the Little Theater this season. The small cast was headed by Marcie Guthrie as Luisa and Mike Bagley as Matt. Brian McMaster and Jim Church both turned in magnificent performances as the fathers. Ken Storms as El Gallo, Gary Gillard as the mute, Dave Panner as the Indian, and Ron Kilpatrick as Henry completed the cast. Directed by Mr. Douglas Vander Yacht, this musical drew standing room only crowds for all five performances, attesting to the quality of the finished product. Even through sudden changes in mood the audience was never lost, thanks to the tremendous lighting effects and expressive musical accompaniment.

The Lady's Not for Burning

"How can you call her a witch?"

The Lady's Not For Burning, by Christopher Fry, will long be remembered, if not for its own quality and finished appeal, as the play which closed out the 37 year history of the old Little Theater productions. Starring Skip Hofmeister (as Mendip) and Sue Enzor (as Jennet Jourdemayne), Lady's presented itself as a philosophical comedy incorporating numerous delightfully funny metaphors and humorous cynicism, all dealing with the merits of life and death in 15th century England—the story of a young girl condemned to die for witchcraft and an ex-soldier wanting to hang but unable to get himself condemned, and their subsequent love for each other.

Being the last production in the Little Theater, Lady's had to be good—it was extremely so. Combining a cast of ten and ingenious lighting, sound, and directing affects, this last presentation was one of the very best.

Scrawl

Editor Marie Rosewarne

Scrawl, the campus literary magazine, begins obscurely somewhere at two o'clock in the morning in the mad but inspired jottings of Westminster's "writer set". After revision and selection, these jottings make their debut in one of the two yearly issues, edited this year by Marie Rosewarne and Polly McKnight.

The job of an annual is not only to present us with a book of pictures, but to capture the whole picture of a developing period of our lives. The people (whether they be those who lend us a helping hand, those who teach us, those who comfort us, those who befriend us, or even those who love us), the events (athletic contests, finals, registration, homecomings, fraternity and sorority functions, graduation), and the places (dorm life, classes, the campus, and the student union), should all be recorded.

Jason searched for his Golden Fleece in his ship, the Argo; likewise we search for our Fleece here in the hallowed halls of Westminster College, and in so doing we too become Argonauts as the Argo relives our travels for us.

The base for any annual is its picture content; without student photographers it could not exist. Neither could it exist without the writers, typists, and all the others who work behind the scenes. Argo sincerely thanks the photographers and all others who helped make this book possible; we hope that our work meets your expectations.

Holcad

The Holcad, published once each week, contained many items of special interest this year. Dave Dillman's Titan Tips column gave an up-to-the-date bird's-eye view of sports; the feature page was widely read too, for it had controversial letters to the editor and Brian McMaster's Out on a Limb column. Students here claim they are sorely restricted and regimented, but Holcad's last edition last year showed how free we really are, and that Freedom of the Press at least exists. Greek Week and opinion polls appeared as usual; reviews for each of the Little Theater plays were featured. New faculty members and all visiting entertainers and speakers also received thorough coverage.

The Publications Committee, composed of student editors of Scrawl, Holcad, and Argo, their advisors, and faculty and administration members, serves as a guide for all three publications. The committee establishes publishing rules and acts in an advisory capacity; its main purpose is to choose the new student editors and to establish the budgets and award contracts for each publication.

This was a year of paradoxes and frustrations for WCRW. One of the largest groups ever turned out to show their interest and support and to help build the campus radio station; the station had some much-needed new equipment with which to produce shows. But with all this in their favor, the station personnel couldn't get off the ground—they had no studio. The library addition had taken it, but a new suite of studios awaits WCRW in the new Arts & Science wing; WCRW will be back next year.

The women of Chi Omega began their year with Homecoming, a breakfast for parents, a float drawn by mules, and Louise Wilson as Homecoming Queen candidate. Besides Fall rush, pledging, a house party with the Alpha Gams, and a Christmas formal at the Shenango Inn, the Chi Omegas gave a pancake breakfast for the other sororities. The Chi Omega volleyball team took first place in the women's intramurals. A successful pledge class, Easter Egg Hunt for faculty children, picnic for underprivileged children, Parents' Day with dinner at the Village Inn, and Sing and Swing highlighted the second semester. In the Spring Honors Convocation, the Chi Omegas presented their annual awards in the fields of history, political science, and sociology, and also presented the Scrawl Prose Award.

Carol Washabaugh, Homecoming
 Candidate

In late September, Kappa Delta Sorority held their annual kickoff dance before the first football game. Carol Washabaugh was presented as Homecoming candidate in October. Their float, "The Pied Piper", tied for second place. The annual dessert for other sorority women followed. The Christmas season included a dinner, a formal, and a party for the Mercer Children's Home. Besides winning a powderpuff football game, they held a Patroness Tea, Housemother's Donut Dunk, and a picnic for the Mercer Orphanage. In May they were represented by Nancy Chambers in the May Court. Sing and Swing and a formal at the Shenango Inn concluded the school year activities.

Phi Mus began the year enthusiastically with daily hikes to the red barn to build the Homecoming Float, Lance-A-Lot-A-Grovers. Lynn Raker represented Phi Mu on the Homecoming Court. Phi Mu was honored to have Dean Antes as a guest for a welcome tea in early fall. A new carpet and stereo were added to the chapter room. National Field Secretary Nancy Norris visited before Rush. In stiff competition, Phi Mus finished second only to the Independents in Basketball Intramurals. Honor came to two Phi Mus, Karen Ahlman and Anne Filer, chosen for May Court. Anne also served as president of Pan Hel. Formals at the Mercer Moose and Holiday Inn, Sing and Swing, Phi Mu Food sold to support our orphan Maria, and regular visits to the Mercer Children's Home numbered among annual events. In the spring, a farewell tea was held for our advisor, Mrs. Jones.

In retrospect one sees the Sig Kaps as they commence the year selecting Becki Leax as their Homecoming Queen Candidate. Their Christmas parties for the Almira and Overlook homes, houseparties, the mothers' breakfast, pizza party, and their famous spaghetti dinner keep them quite busy.

Rush brings seventeen pledges in second semester. Spring is accompanied by taffy-pulling, powder-puff football, softball games, and a picnic with their sisters at Thiel College. The Spring Formal, ice cream social, and serenades roll around in the month of May. Parents' Day is climaxed with Viv Perry on the May Court, the Parents' Dinner, and Sing 'n' Swing.

One also notices that on this 40th anniversary of the Alpha Sigma Chapter, the Sig Kaps are awarded the National "The most co-operative Chapter Award". They competed with over one hundred other Sigma Kappa chapters, being judged on such things as scholarship, campus activities, campus honors, financial management, philanthropics, rushing, pledge training, pledges initiated, cooperation with National requests, and projects with the Province President and the National Pan Hellenic Delegate.

Barb Baggus and Barb Brindle attended Sig Kap's National Convention in Puerto Rico in June.

Planning for Homecoming initiated the social activities of Zeta Tau Alpha. "Get A Head Titans" was the theme of the headless horseman float entered in the annual Homecoming float parade. Their candidate for Homecoming Queen was Jodi Hendry. The Zetas' social calendar included a Halloween houseparty, a Christmas formal at the New Castle YWCA, two spring houseparties, and the Spring Formal at the Hotel Castleton in New Castle.

At Christmas time the Zetas were kept busy making stockings for the Korean Orphan Choir and sending Christmas and Birthday presents to Ahmud Mussalmania, their adopted orphan in Jordan.

A luncheon was given for parents and guests on Parents' Day and later in the evening they were entertained by Zeta's part in Sing 'n' Swing.

The men of Phi Kappa Tau began the school year with preparations for Homecoming and the annual alumni dinner. Then followed a successful tea for freshman women, open house for freshman men, Christmas formal, and many house parties, such as the "Playboy Club party", the "Graveyard" house party, and the "Arabian Orgy". Spring brought with it a strong pledge class, the Spring Picnic at Mill Creek Park, and a successful softball season. The Spring Formal and May Activation topped off another perfect year.

Theta Chis sport their new jackets

This year the Theta Chis have enjoyed using their new chapter room for parties and meetings. Next year they plan to house twenty-six men. Activities began with a "splashing" Homecoming float and continued with a Christmas dance and many memorable house parties. Theta Chi again held its smoker at the Tavern. After pledging, the Theta Chi flag was a proud sight in Old '77. Most important of all to the men of Theta Chi is their submission of AKE colony status to become a full chapter in Theta Chi.

This year's Sigma Nu activities began with the annual Freshman Tea and continued with house parties and the fall rush. The Christmas Formal, White Rose Coronation Formal, the All-College Volleyball Tournament, Sing and Swing, serenades, and picnics highlighted the year.

The "A" league intramural team won the first place trophy in basketball for the field house completion fund; the "C" and "D" league teams went undefeated.

Our Sigma Nu chapter, Kappa Phi Lambda, founded in 1864, is the oldest fraternity on campus and ranks in the top ten in scholarship among other Sigma Nu national chapters. Mrs. George Renne is hostess and housemother for the local chapter.

Strategy which paid off in the Intramural championship

The first semester was a booming success for the men of SPE. On the social side we had our Freshman Tea for women, an Alumni Luncheon during Homecoming, a Christmas Dinnier, and many fine house parties. SPE swept the Intramural football season, going undefeated in both "A" and "B" leagues. The second semester was highlighted by the "A" league basketball crown, house parties, a Spring formal, and our annual Parents' Day Luncheon. To top it all off, SPE gained a fine new pledge class.

Sali getting advice from Coach Burry

The 1965 football campaign provided a herculean challenge for head coach Dr. Harold Burry—he had to improve on perfection. The 1964 version of the Titan football squad did about everything as perfectly as it could be done and finished with one of the finest defensive teams in the nation while posting an 8-0 record.

The 1965 club was minus eleven of the 1964 starters but still managed to wind up the season with a 5-3 mark. With numerous positions on the '65 team being filled with newcomers, Coach Burry should have a solid nucleus on which to build next year.

The Titan's junior quarterback, Smitty Cornell, finished up the season with 78 completions in 138 attempts for 921 yards and nine touchdowns. Fullback Bob Butkowski led the Titan backs with 361 yards on 112 tries. Split end Gary Hughes snared 33 passes for 363 yards and four TD's.

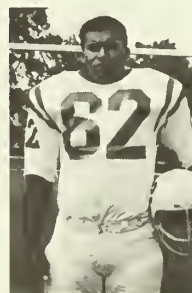

Dr. Burry launched his 16th season at the Titan helm and was trying to improve on a glittering 80-19-3 record. Along with long time assistant C. G. "Buzz" Ridl and newcomer Ralph Bouch, the Titans went to work preparing for their opener at Salem (W.Va.) College.

The Titans packed up and headed south with a lot of question marks, especially on offense, but the defense proved to be more than true to form as Salem fell, 13-6. A blocked punt was parleyed into Westminster's first TD, an eight yard strike from Cornell to Larry Bonney; Bonney's brilliant 60 yard punt return paved the way for the Titans' winning margin.

Another West Virginia school was on tap next when the Titans hosted West Virginia Wesleyan to kick off the home schedule. The Titans had rocked the visitors 32-7 a year before, but this time it was a different story as Westminster moved the ball everywhere but over the goal and went down 6-0. This proved to be the Titans' poorest effort of the season.

To the die-hard Westminster sports buff there is nothing more delicious than a victory over Grove City. With that in mind Westminster's largest Homecoming crowd in history (6500) jammed Memorial Field to watch Burry gun for his 14th straight Homecoming win. Once again the Titan defense spelled victory. With middle linebacker Bob Scarazzo anchoring the platoon the Titans held when it counted and came out of the contest with a well earned 7-0 victory.

Co-Captains Kell McClendon and Herb Niles

Geneva was next and with Larry Bonney putting on a brilliant display of catching the pigskin, the Titans eked out a 14-7 decision in the pouring rain. Bonney grabbed nine aerals for 123 yards, including two TD strikes from Cornell.

With a 3-1 mark under their belts, Coach Burry's crew traveled to Waynesburg to try and contain the powerful Yellow Jackets. The Titans, like many before and after them, had little luck and were on the short end of a 34-21 score.

Glenville State was next on the ledger and the Titans took out their scoring frustrations on the hapless Rebels. Westminster collected 343 yards on the ground and in the air as Cornell fired a pair of TD passes to Hughes.

The Titans took a 4-2 mark down to the Steel City to tangle with Carnegie Tech's Tartans and needed an 85 yard scoring drive in the final quarter to pull out a 28-21 decision. Once again it was Hughs' heroics on offense as the junior end collected seven Cornell passes for 117 yards and two TDs.

The Titans finished up the season on a sad note when, due to defensive lapses, they dropped a 20-6 encounter at Mount Union.

The final count was five wins and three setbacks, with the West Penn title going to Waynesburg for the first time in eight years. It was a rebuilding year in many respects for Westminster, and considering their graduation losses, the season could be labeled as very successful.

Westminster placed end Gary Hughes and Ray Cebula, along with linebacker Bob Scarazzo and defensive halfback Charlie Smith, on the All West Penn Conference team. Scarazzo was also a first team All District choice and had a sparkling year while leading the Titans' defensive unit.

The valuable playing experience picked up by Westminster's freshmen and sophomores, blended with a solid coaching job on the part of Bouch, Burry, and Ridl should pay off in cash dividends next season as the Titans face their first nine game schedule in history.

Frenchman Glenn Dawson paced the Titans as he finished first four times, second once, third once, and fourth twice. In the WPC meet Dawson finished second in the field of 48. Dawson also set a new school and course record in the Carnegie Tech meet when he covered the 4.6 mile course in 23:50.

Against St. Francis the Titans took the first seven places, while the Blue and White grabbed the first five places in the Geneva contest. Eric Burns and Ed Craxton each picked up two firsts for the Titans. The harriers should continue winning next year with a veteran group.

Flannery and Drespling after the ball

The Titans had not suffered a losing season since 1952-53 and had never suffered one under C.G. "Buzz" Ridl. 1965-66, however, was to be the year that the Titans had their ups and downs, made far more mistakes than usual, and finished up 10-12.

Junior guard John Fontanella paced the Titans in scoring with 384 points for a 17.5 average, including 80 of 93 free throws, and was named the NAIA's Scholar Athlete of the Year. One of the brightest spots of the season was sophomore Mike Drespling, who averaged 14.2 points a contest, including a Titan season high of 36 against St. Francis.

The Titans were plagued by injuries and lack of experience as Coach Ridl tried out countless combinations. As a team the Titans averaged 71.7 points per game while giving up 70.5. Both Fontanella and Drespling were voted to the NAIA District 18 team and the second team All West Penn Conference.

Behind Fontanella's 27 points, the Titans opened by trouncing Alliance 86-55. Next came a 63-55 win over Indiana State; then the roof caved in as the Titans dropped their first game in 34 years to Grove City, 97-84. An 85-69 win over Waynesburg preceded a 74-65 loss to Carnegie Tech. Westminster then lost to Bucknell and Wittenberg before losing a 48-46 heartbreaker to Maryland State in the opening round of the Central Connecticut Christmas Tourney. The Titans put on one of their finest displays of the season before bowing to Pitt, 70-69, in Fitzgerald Field House.

Dixie Rowlands tossed in 26 points to get the Titans past Slippery Rock 78-76. Despite Drespling's 22 points the Titans lost at Waynesburg, 78-75. Drespling and his 36 points at Winter Homecoming with St. Francis led the Titans on, 96-77. Losses to Geneva (63-62) and Carnegie Tech (68-67) followed.

The rematch with Grove City was one of the season's highlights, as the Grovers bowed 85-80, in a contest which saw Fontanella hit 30 points and Drespling 29. After beating St. Vincent and losing to St. Francis, the Titans beat Pitt 102-76, as Bruce Nagle came up with his finest effort as a Titan, scoring 21 points and grabbing 10 rebounds. The Titans finished up the season against powerful NCAA-bound Syracuse, and even though Fontanella outscored him, All-America Dave Bing and his mates were too much as Westminster lost 100-66.

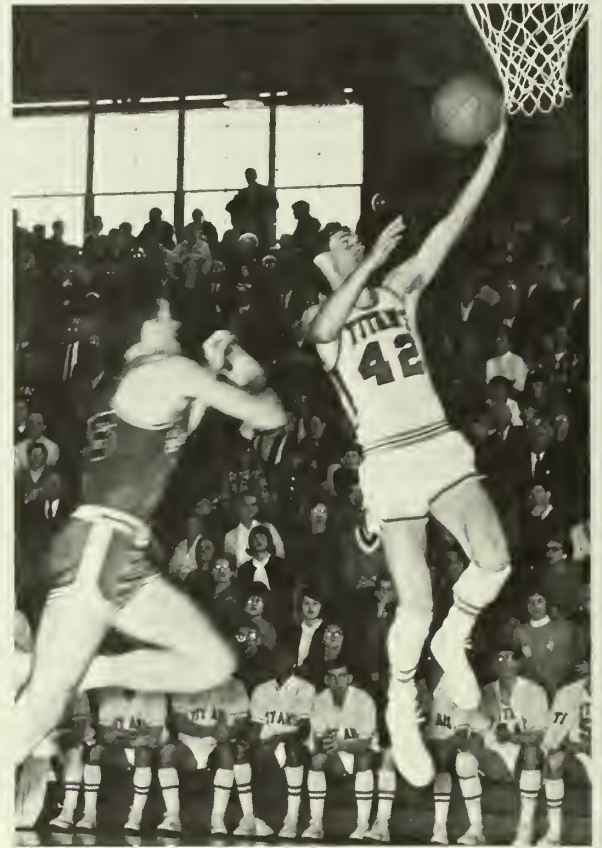

It might have been a disappointing season, but Buzz Ridl, along with Assistant Fran Webster, did the finest job that could have been done. Gone are Dixie Rowlands and Bruce Nagle from the starting five, in addition to subs Gary Mueseler, John Hanna, and Graham Johnstone. In addition to Fontanella and Drespling, the Titans will have back center George Zepernick, guards Fred McConnell and Bob Flannery, forwards Dave Robinson and Larry Webber, and outstanding freshmen like Joe Yost, Dale Boyd, Russ Boston, Buppy DeJoseph, and Bob Alexander, so the future does look brighter for the Titans on the Basketball court.

Still trying to hold intercollegiate swimming meets in a bathtub, Coach Bill McGinnis' tankmen continued to show fine form while compiling a dismal record. Next year the squad will again be led by Capt. Ed Dudek; with no seniors lost this year, the squad will be an all veteran one. Dudek not only served as captain, but was a tremendous competitor over the season, scoring $65\frac{3}{4}$ points and was a top contender in the Penn-Ohio meet. Soph Dave Thompson was second in the scoring column with $37\frac{3}{4}$ points. When the swimmers are out of their outdated facilities and into the new field house annex, Coach McGinnis feels the teams will definitely improve. Perhaps a record is what people look at, but the practice, devotion, effort, and accomplishment of each of the Titan swimmers under severe handicaps is second to none.

 West Penn Conference 7-4 (2nd)

The Titans were led by a trio of sophomore hurlers, Dick Holliday, Bill Harper, and Larry Kelly, along with freshman Frank Crispin. Holliday beat W&J 1-0 on the school's first 9 inning no-hitter and had a great 1.09 ERA while posting a 4-1 mark. Besides winning 5 games and striking out 70 batters in 61 $\frac{2}{3}$ innings and having an ERA of 2.20, Harper led the team in RBI's and was second in hits. Soph 2nd baseman Dave Anderson led in hitting with .327, closely followed by senior first sacker Larry Bonney with a .304 average.

Lacking real fire power at bat, but loaded in pitching, the Titans finished 11-5 overall and 7-4 in the West Penn Conference. Bad weather early in the season hurt the batters, and some loose play hurt at the end, but the club has potential in abundance, and with only three seniors graduating from the team, it will be back next year almost completely intact.

"This can't be my score. Is it yours, Bob?"

For the fourth consecutive year the Titan golfers were undefeated, stretching their win streak to 27 before St. Vincent tied them, and pushing their unbeaten string to 41. Much of this success goes to seniors Jack Hamilton and Jeff Snyder; their loss will be felt, but with 4 returning lettermen, including frosh MVP Jeff Coey, the squad should continue winning. Coey led the team with an 8-0-0 slate and a 78.6 average; Chuck Cullison, another fosh, was 8-0-1 with a 79.4 mark. Hamilton had a 79 average and Snyder a 78.4 to pace the squad. In the WPC tournament the Titans fired a 407 for honors; Coey tied for medalist with a 79. This year the team took a "pre-season" Southern tour, defeating Bridgewater 6-3, Virginia Union twice, 7-0 and 6-1, and losing to VMI 2-5. Next year the squad will again tune up on a Southern swing before opening the defense of their WPC title.

The Titan tennis team had a very successful year, thanks to excellent depth and over-all good play. Another decided factor was a brief Southern tour which gave the Titans a "head start" on their opponents and prepared them for WPC play. The team loses 1st man Craig Applefield and 3rd man Ed Jackson, but has six returning lettermen, including MVP John Appelt. Appelt and Dave Thompson will be next year's co-captains.

After taking 2 of their 3 Southern matches, losing only to a strong Hampton team, the Titans opened the regular season play with three impressive victories. Then came a heartbreaking 4-5 loss to Grove City; this was followed by a 4-5 loss to powerful Waynesburg. The season ended with the Titans winning their last three matches and placing 3rd in the WPC after Waynesburg and Grove City.

Ron Kuhrt and Ernie Bodo: two of the many promising freshman grapplers

Titan sports fans will be glad to know that Westminister does have a wrestling team, and that it starts varsity competition in 1966-67. Last year was the first year a team as such existed; it consisted of all underclassmen. This should provide the core needed to start a respectable if not successful wrestling squad. Ron Kuhrt and Ernie Bodo represent the promising material that the team has to build on in its formative years. This past year was spent mostly in practice sessions, work outs, and a few scrimmages; next year a varsity schedule has been set up, but Coach Ralph Bouch is only trying to field a respectable team, to get Westminister onto the schedules of wrestling schools, and to build a nucleus for future years so that one day soon the Titans can have yet another gem on their All-Sports Trophy. The first step is to get and keep the interest and support of the students.

Students

1966 Seniors

The four years that we, the class of 1966, have spent at Westminster have indeed left an impression upon us; we in turn have left an impression upon the character of Westminster. Neither at present, nor in the near future, will the effect and meaning of this relationship show its true worth. Suffice it to say that one day it will.

Beyond the present, we will be of little significance if we don't utilize what we have gained while here. Unless we apply our knowledge to our chosen fields, we will have made no contribution to a productive legacy.

That by which we are judged will not simply be our presence here, but that which we make of ourselves in the years to come will be our standard of recognition and remembrance. That which we ask is to be judged by our future work and success.—Kell McClendon

EDUCATION IS A CONSTRUCTIVE TOOL

"Education is the knowledge of how to use the whole of oneself. Many men use but one or two faculties out of the score with which they are endowed. A man is educated who knows how to make a tool of every faculty — how to open it, how to keep it sharp, and how to apply it to all practical purposes.

The day started like any other Friday—there was a home golf match, the girls could stay out later, the weekend was at hand. Then, in the early afternoon the whole campus broke down; faculty members held sad discussions, the Administration was running around to make all necessary arrangements, students unbelievably asked each other and any faculty member they saw if the word was true.

It was true. That afternoon, Friday, April 22, Sam Sloan had died—just scant minutes after teaching his last class—and what had started out as a nice day turned into a Black Friday.

Mr. Samuel Sloan, or Sam as he was known to everyone, was head of the Economics and Business Department; he had served as Chairman for eight years. His untimely, unexpected, and unfortunate death brought to an end a period of service, warm friendships, and companionship which dated back to 1947. He has been honored in many ways already, and Argo is dedicated to another great man, but no one can say that Sam Sloan was not a Titan to the core.

Argo apologizes for the placing of this memoriam in the rear instead of the front of the book where it rightfully belongs, and for not having a picture on this page. But perhaps this is fitting, for Sam Sloan was a team man, not someone wanting the limelight constantly; he loved his students and belongs with them—the page opposite is a part of the school as he saw and loved it. To get an idea of the full depth of this great Titan, look at pages 26, 139, and 204—they show the man, the educator and professor, the friend and helper, the fun-lover, the real Samuel “Sam” Sloan.

The 1966 Argo was printed on 80 pound Velvet Plate stock by offset lithography, using the Bodoni Book print style on its 256 pages; the cover is embossed on a cordoba grain.

Argo wishes to thank Mr. Eugene Burke of Taylor Publishing Co. for printing and binding arrangements, the cover, and help and advice on layout; Mr. Neil Baldelli and Mr. Bill Abey of Abey Studio for all professionally taken pictures and for time taken for Argo in all respects; Mr. Phil Snyder of the Public Relations Dept. for information, pictures, and understanding; the staffs of the mail-room and all the Administration offices for all their help and patience; student photographers John Du, Jean Kaulback, Jeff Kellam, Ray Scoboria, and Paul Sparks; the staff of Argo; and any and everyone who in any way assisted in the publication of this book.

Special thanks go to those people who sacrificed above and beyond the call of duty by staying after school was over to help or by spending the last few hours furiously typing to make ends meet—Paul Allison, Lynnette Beigbender, Jeff Kellam, Rita Phillippi, Jo Scott, Jim Turner, Joyce Vervoort, and Shelly Webb. To these people especially and to everyone else, a sincere Thank You.
